BULGARIA IS HARD HIT

Children Clamor for Crusts, While Mothers Search for Grains of Corn.

By H. N. BRAILSFORD.

By International News Service, NEW YORK, Dec. 28.-There is nowhere in the world today so much suffering to the square mile as in the Balkan territories which two wars have devastated. War at best is a wanton destruction of wealth, but in this recent war of annihilation each race sufflood of ruin broke twice.

I saw in my recent journey Moslem refugees camped in their primitive ox agons to the number of 10,000 around Saloniki. They had seen their homesteads burned, had abandoned their lands and were selling the few things they had saved while waiting for ships to take them to Asiatic Turkey.

I saw a part of the route followed by the Greek army in its victorious northward march through a region peo pled by Bulgarians. Villages to the number of 160 lie in ruins, with nothing but blackened stones to mark their sites. Everything has been systematically burned, and the fugitives who had escaped to Bulgaria told a tale of plunder, massacre and violation.

The two men, Ernest W. Farmer, who was killed, and G. W. Armed strikers, it was reported, approached the structure, carrying a can which later was found to contain coal oil. The guards ordered the strikers to stop, and their reply was a fusillade of bullets.

Cornish Miners Sing.

Fifty singers chanted hymns in the vake of the children's carriers. Most of these were English miners, who had learned in Cornwall to chant Christmas carols in the streets and years ago brought this old custom to the copper country. "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "Rock of Ages," and "Nearer My God to Thee," came from throatis thick with emotion, but the harmonies were full and rich.

As the singers turned into Pive street, which leads to the cemetery road, the open ranks of marchers wheeled into line. Ishpeming and Negaunce men came first, followed by a brass band and the members of the copper country locals. The last marcher had scarcely

The coroner's inquest into the circumstances of the tragedy is to convene tomorrow. According to statements of investigators for county of ficials, witnesses will be produced to show that the cry of "fire" which started the panic came from near the center of the hall instead of from the doorway as the first accounts had it. Search for the man who shouted the first false alarm has thus far been un-successful. It was intimated, however, that clews to his identity were working out and that an arrest is something more than a remote possibility.

Tanner's Story.

Tanner said he was with Moyer in their hotel room when a dozen men broke in and seized them. One of them, he said, struck Moyer in the back of the nead with the butt of a revolver, which a moment later was discharged, shooting the federation president. The two, he said, were marched, closely guarded to the railroad station, where the crowd, which had grown to several hundred, threatened them with manging should they return.

Emmet T. Flood, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, was the only speaker, directly counseling violence. "Meet them with their own that the state and county government will not give the protection guaranteed under the constitution every man who goes to the strike region should have his own protection with him."

Condition of Moyer.

Condition of Moyer.

There is only the most remote chance that the wound in Charles H. Moyer's back will prove fatal. Probably within ten days he will be back in the copper country of Michigan directing the strike of miners in his capacity as president of the Western Federation of Miners.

Optimistic news of his condition came from Drs. G. V. Hilton and William M. Harsha at St. Luke's hospital today when the skiagraph showed that the builet was imbedded in the muscles of his left shoulder. Within forty-eight hours at the latest the surgeons will know whether it is wiser to remove the builet or to allow it to remain. Unless blood poisoning develops it is probable it will be allowed to stay where it is, unless the proposed investigation of the shooting at Hancock, Mich., imperatively demands that the caliber of the builet be ascertained in order to trace the culprit who fired the shot.

The patient was in a cheerful frame of mind, but the physicians insisted that he could see only those visitors whose business Moyer regarded as urgent.

DENVER, Colo. Dec. 28—A joint meeting of the national officers present in Denver of the United Mine Workers of America, Western Federation of Miners and the Colorado State Federation of Labor will be held tomotrow at which resolutions will be passed condemning the action of persons in Calumet for the deportation and beating of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and offering the local Calumet organization dinancial and "any other assistance" to further an investigation into the alleged deportation.

This announcement was made tonight by President John McLennan of the State Federation, who said also, that resolutions would be forwarded to the congressmen from Colorado and congressmen from the states of which every official present at the meeting tomorrow is resident, urging a congressional investigation of the strike conditions both in Michigan and Colorado. This will be the first time the two miners' organizations will have united to a common purpose of strike investigation, it is said, and the union was impelled because of the treatment accorded the president of the Western Federation of Miners.

Resolutions will be passed expressing sympathy of the three organizations for President Moyer.

The charge made by Moyer and his ntitude forbidding the miners to receive aid from the citizens of the region, created the greatest excitement and indignation on the part of the citizens and was undoubtedly the cause of his being sent out of town, although it cannot be discovered that anyone knows of any violence offered to him.

knows of any violence offered to him.

The great crowd that stood around the four deep trenches in which the bodies of the panic victims were buried today stood in the snow and listened to an address by E. A. McNally, attorney for the Western Federation of Miners, who declared that the seventy-two victims of the panic had "died for the cause of unionism." He said that Moyer was a modern Peter the Hermit leading a great crusade, the greatest in history. "And even though they killed our leader," declared the orator, referring to the beating and deportation of Moyer, "the cause would still go marcaing on."

There is no doubt but what Moyer has been the central figure of the discord that has raged in the copper country the last few months. The citizens insist they will have none of him or the Western Federation of Miners. The striking miners insist that Moyer is the man and the Western Federation of Miners the organization that is standing between them and industrial slavery.

Won't Have Moyer.

Won't Have Moyer.

A business man of the copper country A business man of the copper country, who was on the train with me today, said: "One thing is certain, we won't have Moyer or the Western Federation of Miners in this region. Now that's all there is to it; there is no power on earth that will be able to force them down our taroats. We won't have them; we simply can't. We feel that it would be ruin if we did. Moyer is the man who was tried with Pettibone and Haywood for the murder of the governor of Idaho. They were mixed up with various big dynamite outrages in Colorado and the west. Do you suppose we want that condition of things in the copper industry? We are the miners' friends. Why, our prosperity depends on theirs. "Business has been losing $20,000 a day during this trouble. We want peace at any price. But we will not have Moyer. He is leading the miners for his own personal benefit. There is no place in the copper country for the Western Federation of Miners. Moyer has done nothing but stir up hatred and strife during the last few months he has been up here. He must stay away. The whole trouble would be settled very quickly if he would keep out of the copper country."

A striking miner said:

"They half killed Moyer and ran him who was on the train with me today

A striking miner said:

"They half killed Moyer and ran him out because he is the best friend we miners have. He was bringing the mine agents to time. He known how to fight them, we don't. They had to get rid of him so they mobbed him. But he'll come back and this thing is going to keep on until we win." on until we win."

I haven't had a chance to investigate I haven't had a chance to investigate the contentions made by the miners who are still on strike or the working conditions which now prevail in the mines where the men have gone back to work. I hope to do that tomorrow or at least as much of it as can be done in a day. Meanwhile I have falled to notice the slightest atmosphere of violence and law-lessness. For the present, at least, it looks as though the Mover incident must be regarded as an isolated case and whatever treatment he received, if it was he regarded as an isolated case and what ever treatment he received, if it wa given him with the hands of citizens id due to his reflections upon their manhoo in regard to the heart-breaking traged of Christmas eve instead of having it roots in the labor troubles. But deep probing may bring out other results. "Don't forget," the man on the traited me, "that Moyer was branded be President Roosevelt as an undestrabled citizen." Well, he's just as undestrabled citizen in the copper country as he wal out west."

But the merits of the case will have to
